Mayor Roswarski Recovering From Coronavirus. Set to return to City Hall on Monday, November 30

LAFAYETTE, INDIANA – November 24, 2020 – Mayor Roswarski has announced that he will return to City Hall from his recovery of the coronavirus on Monday, November 30 after his 14 days of self-isolation.

Since his diagnosis on November 17, Mayor Roswarski has followed the necessary steps in his recovery process and continued with the essential business for the city over the past several days. He would like to thank everyone for their thoughts, prayers and well wishes as he continues to recover from this virus.

Mayor Roswarski wants to remind everyone to be vigilant and wear facemasks, follow social distancing protocols, and sanitize your hands. “Continue to ‘fight the good fight’ as news is being shared on a promising vaccine coming soon”, state Mayor Roswarski. “Everyone needs to follow the guidelines set forth and to support each other especially during the Thanksgiving holiday and the coming weeks and months ahead.”
